JEFFERSON CITY, June 7.—Adjournment of the "marathon" session of the legislature about noon Tuesday was predicted by leaders today as they surveyed the situation in conference committee.

There was some sentiment for speeding the breakup by running far into tonight, and a few interested in bills facing death on the calendar—predicted a holdover into Wednesday.

The senate began the "down the stretch" drive by passing a joint and concurrent resolution calling for a pay increase of more than 100 per cent to legislators. Nobody was opposed to it.

The house joined the senate in approving the salary hike amendment by a vote of 102 to 4, after shouting down an amendment by C. C. Downing, Knox County, which would have continued the pay at $5 a day, but for 120 days instead of 70.

In offering the reduced compensation, Downing said he didn't believe the people would approve the proposed constitutional amendment as written by the senate.

W. W. Burke, St. Louis, said Downing's amendment would kill the resolution.

The proposal, which now needs the concurrence of the senate in a house committee amendment to limit legislative employees to $5 a day, will be submitted to the people at the general election in November, 1938. Similar proposed increases have been defeated several times in the last ten years.

House members voting against the resolution were Downing and T. J. Walker of Boone County, Democrats, and Dr. J. A. Gray of Atchison County, and W. T. Floyd of Andrew County, Republicans.

The suggested scale would be $10 a day for the first 120 days of a regular session, or the first 150 days of a revision session, and $3 a day thereafter.

Present pay is $5 a day for the first 70 days of a regular session, and a dollar a day after that.

The new proposal was made by Senator Phil M. Donnelly, Lebanon, as an amendment to a resolution by M. E. Casey, Kansas City, which would have again submitted the $1,500 a year salary rejected by voters last fall.

Donnelly said the flat $1,500 a year was "too big an increase" and provided for paying legislators while not on duty, but that "the people recognize the justice of some increase in pay and a lengthening of the number of days of a regular session."

JEFFERSON CITY, June 7.—Missouri's general assembly today near the end of the longest ordinary session in its history, far-reaching social security legislation its major accomplishment.

The sales tax has been doubled—to 2 per cent—to provide funds for increasing numbers on the old age assistance rolls, a new venture in aid to dependent children, and state assumption of the major direct-relief burden.

Unemployment compensation legislation covering an estimated 650,000 workers will take millions in funds, but these all come from federal payroll taxes already levied.

Governor Stark's major program, as outlined in his inaugural address, has in general been accomplished.

Having hiked the gasoline tax to three cents, legislators enthusiastically cut passenger automobile license fees in half. The governor's approval of this is doubtful, as it would take away more than half the money provided by the penny gas-tax increase.

A 2 percent sales tax will bring general revenues to nearly $80,000,000 in 1937-38, leaders estimate, compared to about $50,000,000 in 1935-36.

Of approximately $45,000,000 allotted from state and federal funds for social security purposes, more than two-thirds will go for old age assistance.

An estimated 70,000 persons over 70 will get pensions approximating $20 monthly. The assembly also voted to submit to the people the question of cutting the minimum years for old age assistance from 70 to 65.

Drivers' License Law
To reduce what the governor called "murder on the highways" the assembly passed a drivers' license law, increased the highway patrol by 30, and gave funds for expanding its radio service.

WORK IS UNDER WAY ON OSAGE
FARMS PROJECTNumerous New Houses
Be Constructed in Hughesville Vicinity

Preliminary work on the 34-unit Osage Farms project of resettlement administration, near Hughesville, has been started and construction of homes is expected to be underway shortly. Some of the frame work for the barns is already up and work was begun today on drilling wells.

The lumber for the frame work of the barns is rough lumber which was brought here from a government project in South Missouri.

The project will provide homes for thirty-four farm families, and is expected to open the way for some of the families to own the land. At least thirty-three new houses will be constructed, one will be remodeled and the 80 to 120-acre tracts will have complete sets of improvements before the new residents move in.

Houses will have from four to six rooms each. Families securing the farms will lease, and eventually may purchase, the farms on a 40 year amortization basis.

"We selected this area for this project because it is adapted to diversified farming," said P. G. Beck, assistant regional director for resettlement administration, today. "Marketing and transportation facilities also were a consideration."

Preference will be given to families who sold their non-agricultural land, and who wish to take up farming in this better agricultural area. We also give preference to low-income farm families and tenants who have indicated a desire to become farm owners out of former tenants."

Plans for operation of the project include dairy and poultry raising as well as growing of cash crops.

YOUTHS REPORTED IN STOLEN CAR SLAIN

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—Two youths were shot to death here early today as the climax of a 16-block chase of what police said was a stolen car.

Harry Nesbitt, one of the two officers who made the chase, gave the names of the two victims as Ross Bivona and Thomas Martino, both about 20. Both, Nesbitt said, had been arrested several times as automobile theft suspects.

Nesbitt said he and his fellow officer, Ralph Parr, were waiting about 2 a. m. for car thieves who recently have taken several new cars into the country and stripped them when they saw a new car of the type (Chevrolet) most frequently stolen.

"We gave them the siren and shot a couple of times into the air, but they wouldn't stop," Nesbitt said.

After a chase of several blocks, Nesbitt said, the riot gun was fired into the rear of the fleeing car, "and one of them was killed." The car continued until it turned down a little used road, Nesbitt said, when the other youth slowed the car and apparently was trying to get out when he was shot.

Shattered Fragments in Utah Sunday

ALPINE, Utah, June 7.—Encircled by guards with orders to "shoot on sight," crews scraped together today pitifully strewn wreckage of a huge sky liner and then dug into glacial snow for the bodies of its seven occupants.

Four men who attempted to carry away "souvenirs" said they were shot at three times.

"A large shipment of jewelry lay exposed to the gaze of the first searchers," M. G. Wenger, postal inspector, told a reporter, adding I could give you a real story about that shipment—but I won't."

Wenger said the half mile area over which the wreckage is scattered was closed to "unapproved visitors." He said guards have orders to shoot on sight for souvenir hunters.

Four men almost simultaneously came upon the shattered airplane Sunday as they scrambled over a ridge on bleak, cliff-cluttered Lone Peak—only 25 miles from Salt Lake City, goal of the transport when it crashed December 15.

No trace of bodies was visible, said the plane-finders, who hope to claim a $1,000 reward offered by the airline, Western Air Express.

"We four started to look for bodies and more things," said Emery Andrews, young farmer. "But we saw two guys slip away with a piece of the plane and we thought the were going to beat us to the reward. So we hustled right in to camp."

Mailbag Is Found

Largest single segment of debris found was part of a propeller. One mail bag remained in one piece, but it was ripped down its side and wind had whisked its contents away.

There was small hope enough of the plane's instruments could be assembled to reconstruct the accident or determine its cause.

Most bitterly ironic note of the tragedy was the location of the wreckage itself, only 20 feet from the ridge-top over which the plane would have had clear sailing down to its goal. Lost in fog and rain, the transport was 35 miles east of the regular Los Angeles-Salt Lake course.

So close to the ridge top was the wreckage, that its tail was hurled over the precipice, searchers said, while the forepart skidded far back down the slope.

The 10-passenger, twin-motored $70,000 Boeing transport left Los Angeles for the north December 14, at 11:15 p. m. Pacific time. It carried Pilot S. J. Samson, Co-Pilot William Bogen and Stewardess Gladys Witt, all of Glendale, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wolfe, Chicago newlyweds; Henry W. Edwards, Minneapolis; Carl Christopher, Dwight, Ill.; Mrs. F. Johnson, and B. G. Mitchell of Los Angeles.

An hour and a half out of Los Angeles the plane, due in Salt Lake at 4:10 a. m., stopped at Las Vegas, Nev., to discharge Mrs. Johnson and Mitchell. At 3:27 a. m. mountain time, Pilot Samson, over Milford, Utah, 180 miles southwest of Salt Lake City, radioed "everything O. K."

The discovery was made about two miles above a camp set up five days ago after two Alpine natives picked up letters from the plane's cargo.

"One shoe lay near the crest of the ridge where the ship crashed," Andrews said. "Airmail lay scattered everywhere, with tiny broken bits of wood, metal and cloth."

Seven sacks were taken up to the camp two days ago. There was no way of telling, however, when the bodies could be recovered.

Some sort of a massive derrick, Western Air authorities said, may be required to haul the bodies and fuselage up the sheer cliff, which is perpendicular from 50 to 100 feet and almost sheer for 200 feet more.

Indications are, search leaders said, that the torn bodies were tossed over the cliff with the plane's tail.

WIDOW OF CHAMP
CLARK CRITICAL

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—Mrs. Champ Clark, widow of the former speaker of the house of representatives, is critically ill at the residence here of her daughter, Mrs. James M. Thompson.

Mrs. Clark, the former Genevieve Davis Bennett, is a native of Calhoun county, Mo. Her husband died March 2, 1921, just prior to the inauguration of President Harding. At that time he was minority leader of the Democratic party in the house.

CORONER DIES ON ACCIDENT INQUIRY

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 7.—Dr. William Preston Patterson, 75-year-old Greene county coroner, died suddenly of a heart attack early this morning shortly after investigating a motor collision that killed a man and injured three women.

Killed instantly in the accident was George W. Reed, 52, who worked in a printing office here and lived at Mountain View, Mo., the injured are his wife, Mrs. Eva Reed, 52; Miss Iris Pearson, 23, of Mountain View, a summer student at state teachers college here; and Opal Wilbanks, 18, of Mountain View, who is attending a Springfield beauty college.

Reed's sedan was parked on a concrete highway, two miles west of Rogersville, and he was fixing a tire on the machine. The women were in the car. A truck driven by Harold Stewart, 30, of Mount Vernon, Mo., came over the hill, struck the sedan squarely.

Sheriff John Pierpont and the coroner went to the scene in Pierpont's auto. The coroner held an inquest and the two started back to Springfield. Doctor Patterson complained of stomach illness and a few minutes after taking a medicine tablet, slumped dead in his seat.

The truck driver is being held for questioning.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BAN-QUET OF MINISTERS-LAYMEN

Plans are complete for the banquet for ministers and laymen of churches of the city affiliated with the Ministers Alliance, and others who care to attend, which will be served at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the First Christian church. The speaker will be the Rev. John C. Glenn, presiding elder of the M. E. church, South, Kansas City district.

DAIRY FARMER

Springs, Gives Informative Talk

Elmer Adams, a practical dairy farmer of Blue Springs, was the guest speaker at the noonday meeting of the Rotary club, at Hotel Bothwell today, and his talk was both interesting and informative.

C. A. Wright, club president, was in charge of the business session during which the following guests were introduced, Henry Lamm, dairyman, guest of Jack McLaughlin; David Bouldin, son of Mrs. Harry Bouldin, guest of Rev. R. A. Park, and who was presented as a young farmer, now raising chickens and turkeys, who probably later on will have a herd of dairy cattle; J. A. DeJarnett, dairyman and E. B. Winner, assistant county extension agent, guests of J. C. Morris; James Latimer, guest of A. M. Hoffman; Joe Moffatt, city milk inspector, guest of W. O. Stanley; Carl Johnson, dairyman, guest of D. S. Lamm, and Rotarian William Schneck, of Fairfield, Pa.

Announcement was made of the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner at Hotel Bothwell tonight to be addressed by Brig. Gen. E. M. Stanton.

J. C. Morris, program chairman for the day, brought the importance of the dairying end of an agricultural program in Pettis county to the attention of the club, stating he was sure the members would be interested in Mr. Adams's talk, for he has 130 cows on his farm at Blue Springs and runs his farm like any business, keeping perfect records on every angle of the industry.

Mr. Adams, in opening his talk, stated that the first requirement is

SEDALIANS ELECTED
AT ELKS GATHERING

Henry C. Salveter, exalted ruler of Sedalia Lodge 125, B. P. O. Elks, was re-elected Vice-president of the Northwest District of Missouri at the annual convention held in Washington, Mo., Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Gouge, wife of Dr. M. E. Gouge, past-president of the state association, was elected vice-president of the newly formed ladies auxiliary to the Elks.

The local lodge was also represented in the Ritualistic contest and had a float entered in the parade.

The Ritualistic team was composed of Exalted Ruler Henry C. Salveter; Esteem Leading Knight William Hurlbut; Esteem Loyal Knight Dr. Charles H. Weaver, Jr., and Esquire Paul Hedderich.

Although not as elaborate as other lodge floats, Sedalia's entry was rather small in comparison, but was appropriately decorated for Elksdom. The float was decorated in purple and white with lodge emblems displayed in four tiers. Large signs on either side gave evidence the Missouri State Fair is to be held in Sedalia in August. The float was in charge of Jack Jolly, past exalted ruler.

Present at the convention other than those already mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Sparr, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Gouge, Mrs. Henry C. Salveter, Mrs. Jack L. Jolly, Mrs. William Hurlbut, Mrs. Paul Hedderich and two children, Dorothy and P. G. Miss Dorothy Pearl, Joe Reid, secretary of the local lodge, Whitley Woodson and D. Kelly Scruton.

Otto Boitz, of Jefferson City, a member of the Sedalia lodge, and a former state president, attended with the local delegation.

BAR GOLD PEGGED
AT $34.70 OUNCE
IN LONDON TODAYEffort To Stem Flow of Precious Metal to United States

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, June 7.—The price of bar gold was pegged at $34.72 a fine ounce on the London market today in an effort to stem the flow of the precious metal to the United States. The new price was an advance of 9.5 cents to the ounce.

At today's price for the pound sterling shippers stood to profit about five cents an ounce, compared with around 14 cents Saturday.

London sale today were 262 bars, valued at about $3,636,000, as compared with 465 bars valued at about $4,848,000 Saturday.

Bullion dealers explained it costs about 23 cents an ounce to ship gold to New York for sale at the $35 price so shippers must buy at less than $34.77 an ounce to make a profit.

What part the British equalization fund might have played in the move today was not disclosed. The bullion brokers who fixed the price said it was the result of a "smaller supply and an increased demand."

Regardless of the immediate possible consequences of the gold sales, there were indications that authorities handling the tripartite monetary equilibrium agreement among the United States, Britain and France were not altogether displeased with the developments.

The less gold that remains in hoarding, it was pointed out, the easier it may be to effect real money stabilization in the long run, when the time is deemed ripe.

One financial commentator suggested that the last few days had indicated the British equalization account was "reluctant to buy," and that this reluctance had thrown the burden of the gold outpouring "on the unwilling shoulders of America, thereby increasing the danger of an American price reduction."

TWO SENTENCED TO ALGOA; DOCKET SET

Harry Hohimer and Albert Hurt, charged with the theft of two rolls of wire from a Missouri Pacific freight car, pleaded guilty in circuit court, criminal division, this morning, and were sentenced to two years in the intermediate reformatory, Algoa Farms.

Other cases on the docket, set for trial, are as follows:

E. G. Stanforth, obtaining property by false pretense, June 26.

Lloyd Kennon, possession of gambling device, June 22.

Doris Meads, embezzlement, June 29.

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Jean Harlow, platinum blonde film actress, died at 11:37 this morning at the Good Samaritan hospital.

She was 26 years old.

Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, her physician said she never regained consciousness after lapsing into a coma this morning. She was stricken with uremic poisoning that spread to her brain. She was placed in an oxygen tent, two blood transfusions were performed, and intravenous solutions were administered in an effort to have her.

With her at the bedside was her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello.

A cerebral edema, complicated acute uremic poisoning, Dr. Fishbaugh said the complication of cerebral edema was a swelling of the brain.

With her mother at the bedside was William Powell, screen actor, who was Miss Harlow's constant companion at social events in recent months. Stunned by the sudden end the mother and Powell were together when they left the hospital.

The thrice-married actress, whose real maiden name was Harlean Carpenter was born March 3, 1911. She assumed a variation of her mother's maiden name, Jean Harlowe, for her film career. Accompanied by her mother, the beautiful blonde made her first Hollywood trip at the age of 19 years, but homesickness soon drove the two back to their home in Kansas City.

Later Miss Harlow returned to attend the Hollywood school for girls, and still later to make her first attempt in motion pictures.

Miss Harlow burst into prominence with one picture, in 1930. It was "Hell's Angels."

HENRY L. DOHERTY
SERIOUSLY ILL

NEW YORK, June 7.—Affidavits filed in federal court here today described the condition of Henry L. Doherty, Ill. for some time in a Philadelphia hospital, as "precarious."

The affidavits, submitted by his attorneys in an effort to save him from questioning in a stockholders action, set forth that he was "deperately ill" when he arrived at Temple University hospital, and that his condition is still precarious.

He can take only liquid food, suffers from insomnia, is highly nervous, and, his doctors add, is so ill that taking of testimony would be "not only hazardous to his health, but possibly to his life."

Today's hearing, which was postponed until June 15 is one of a series growing out of objections by Archibald Palmer to acceptance of $1,250,000 from Doherty as settlement of a suit for approximately $100,000,000 against Mr. Doherty, Cities Service directors, and others.

Boatwright emphasized to the court that Judge Otis has stated he would like to have the question passed on by June 21 when he is to try another one of the cases.

Arguments today recite briefly the occasion of the Kansas City federal court actions resulting from alleged frauds in the November 3, 1936 national, state and city elections. It was stated that the indictments returned by the federal grand jury charged ballot box stuffing, terrorism, and bribery.

Boatwright said that only two or three cases would be delayed by the appellate court proceedings as other pending cases are being passed until next fall.

STAYTON JUNIOR
C. OF C. SPEAKER

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will have an attendance of about eighty at its dinner at Hotel Bothwell at 6:30 o'clock this evening, at which time the guest speaker will be Brigadier General Edward M. Stayton, of Kansas City, commander general of the Missouri National Guard.

Mrs. Glenn Moser and daughter, Mildred, will furnish a musical program.

Dr. C. H. Weaver, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will preside over the business session and P. H. Handley over the program.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Jean Knott, 54, artist and creator of the "Penny Ante" cartoons, and former member of the King Features, Inc., staff, died Saturday after a brief illness.

SAM SPARROW OF KANSAS CITY DIES

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—Sam Sparrow, 66, Democratic political leader and former chairman of the Jackson county board of election commissioners, died here early today after a four years illness.

Sparrow, born on a Davies county farm, started law practice in Clarksville, Mo., after his graduation from the University of Missouri. He was a law partner of State Sen. David A. Ball in Louisiana, Mo., before coming here in 1909.

PETITIONS HEARD
FOR JUDGE OTIS
TO DISQUALIFYEndeavor To Prevent His Presiding in Election
Fraud Cases

By The Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, June 7.—Demands by defendants in Kansas City, Mo., election fraud trials that Judge Merrill E. Otis, because of prejudice, disqualify himself from presiding at their trials in federal district court at Kansas City, were heard by the eighth district federal circuit court of appeals here today.

The case came before Judges John B. Sanborn, St. Paul; Wilbur F. Booth, Minneapolis, and Joseph W. Woodrough, Omaha, on a petition for leave to file a further petition for a writ of mandamus ordering Judge Otis to accept the affidavits of prejudice and withdraw from the case.

William G. Boatwright, defense counsel, emphasized that the proceedings are extraordinary in that the United States district attorney's office at Kansas City asked the court give permission to file the petition for a writ of mandamus in response to two requests made by Judge Otis who urged that his right to preside be determined.

Boatwright asked that the appellate court rule on the right of the defense to apply for the writ of mandamus and defer consideration of the merits of the affidavits or prejudice until appeals in finished and pending cases come before it.

The affidavits of prejudice contained in the record before the appellate court in St. Paul today state that Judge Otis evidenced his prejudice as to himself and on behalf of the federal government in two opinions and an order restricting the jury panel to citizens of the western district of Missouri exclusive of Jackson county and Kansas City.

Quote Court in Affidavits

The affidavits quote Judge Otis' statement in an opinion that this was done because "sinister forces would threaten, intimidate or injure" him, he feared, and would occasion mistrials if Jackson county or Kansas City jurors participated in trials of the cases.

The government was represented before the appellate court by Thomas A. Costello and Samuel C. Blair, assistant United States district attorneys at Kansas City.

The petitioners for disqualification of Federal Judge Otis are Anna V. O'Laughlin, Lorella McEntree, Joseph Maher, Samuel J. Clark, Mary McCormack, Hazel L. Holmes, Sam Brenner, Ruth Tucker, Ellis Buck, Francis S. Ryan, Harvey T. Johnston, Lawrence Buchanan, Charles J. Burton, Marie Wimmer, John P. Lynch, Esther Halbert, Ernest Orr, Alice Tweedy, Senna Twist, W. C. Murphy, P. H. Slattery and Milton Doahue.

Boatwright emphasized to the court that Judge Otis has stated he would like to have the question passed on by June 21 when he is to try another one of the cases.

INVENTOR OF THE HALF-TONE

Magazines and newspapers were illustrated in black and white, and in color, before the late Frederic E. Ives was born in 1846; yet the thousands of periodicals that depend on illustrations today have reason to pause for a moment and honor his memory, says the New York Times.

"For the half-tone process, which makes it possible to print photographs with ink on ordinary presses, was largely, if not entirely his invention. Certainly to him belongs the credit for having devised the simple and ingenious method of breaking up a photograph into a multitude of dots, large and small, by ruling parallel lines on two glass plates, sealing the plates together with two sets of lines crossing each other, and determining just where the screen should be placed between the lens and the sensitized metal plate on which the picture was to be reproduced."

Mr. Ives did more than invent the half-tone which is in common use over all the world. His system on color photography was notable. He obtained stereoscopic effects without a stereoscope. His name "will go down in the annals of both photography and printing as a pioneer".

Mr. Ives' success with half-tones placed the reproduction of scenes and portraits within the reach of the smallest newspapers and magazines. A cursory glance over illustrations printed fifty years ago is ample to show the great improvement wrought by Mr. Ives. The half-tone has been brought nearer perfection, and the photo-gravure processes reproduce with great fidelity to the original.

JAPANESE TRADE ENVOYS

A Japanese trade commission is in the United States. Its members are charged with the duty of trying to build up an increased commerce between Japan and the United States. This commission is without power to negotiate binding agreements, but it is said that its report to Tokyo will be influential.

The United States has been keeping imports from Japan down by means of the Hawley-Smoot tariff. To sell their products in these markets, Japanese manufacturers must hurdle a high tariff wall. They have been doing this with such success as to bother American manufacturers with whom they come into competition.

On the one hand American manufacturers would keep Japanese goods, wares and stuffs out of American markets and on the other they would sell theirs in Japan. This condition has led to establishment of American factories in Japan, but Japanese factories in the United States have made no headway. The American factory in Japan hires cheap Japanese labor.

American manufacturers have played the same game in Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain and other countries. Employment has been lost to American labor. By and large, it is open to question whether American labor is protected by the high tariff as the tariff advocates say that it is.

Not the United States only, but the nations of Europe, fear Japanese competition, for the little brown men have developed cheap competent labor. Their costs are much lower than those of their foreign competitors. And the Japanese are what the Americans call "go-getters."

SUPERSTITION WILL NOT DOWN

From the Columbia Dispatch.

There is no downing the legend that he who ravishes the tomb of a Pharaoh is bound to suffer as a result. A series of untoward happenings to Howard Carter, discoverer of the tomb of the tomb of King Tut, near Luxor in Egypt, and to the family of Lord Carnarvon, British peer, who was a backer of Carter, has given strength to the myth. Now Sir Alexander Seton, hard-headed Scottish nobleman, has sent the segment of a Pharaoh's skull, which Lady Seton took from a tomb near the pyramids, back to Egypt by special messenger with instructions to place it in the same position in which it was found.

The reason for all this expense and concern is that there have been strange happenings about the manor house in Scotland where Sir Alexander lives. Visitors complained that a ghost wandered about the house at night. Two fires broke out in the house. A whole series of mishaps befell members of the family. No reason could be assigned for this unusual run of bad luck. Then Lady Seton remembered the souvenir she had brought back from Egypt. Immediately to this was assigned the cause of the misfortunes.

All of the disturbing happenings to the family were no doubt sheer coincidence, but fancied malevolence of the centuries dead pharaoh's spirit was blamed. It remains to be seen, now that the bone has gone back to Egypt, whether the ghost will still walk in the old Scottish home.

NOTE ON DOING NOTHING

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Sometimes—and never more plausibly than when they have been lacking for a long time and have suddenly become abundant—it seems as if sun and air were enough, as if they could cure all the evils that the human spirit and its flash are heir to; make life complete.

Science has recently been playing into the hands of this extravagant belief, giving reasons for what the active or relaxed body when it is bathed in sunlight and fresh air has always known directly and truly; never more so than after weeks or months of confinement and the disillusion of our chill and rainy Northern spring, of which this one has been such a harsh example.

From now on, in the swift two weeks or more than sedentary workers are turned out to pasture each year, millions will be reminded that vitamins are vital and that oxygen enters importantly into metabolism; but the message will come in convincing sensations of general well-being and particular gratifications of salt water and sun on the bare skin, mountain air making glad the soul as well as the pulmonary tracts; sensations that many will not take pains to analyze or explain, except in such unelaborated comments as: "It's swell to feel swell!"

There is still something so young and giddy about the American people—it's well-known excess of vitality no doubt explains it—that many return from vacations more tired, if in different corporeal and spiritual areas, than when they went away. When shall we learn the joys of repose that are known to cats, dogs and hens dusting in the dry earth, or to a Sicilian beggar sitting on a stone wall playing a home-made flute or to a colored man fishing in a Florida lagoon?

To do nothing is one of the most active forms of human behavior; still requires more willing than most of us have, fidgeting, jittering, jumpy folks that we are. But we are fast learning as we lie on beaches or hillsides and are taught that sun and air are a final and direct gratification, and that time can be made to stand still and let the vitamins fall where they may.

FROM PINS TO LOCOMOTIVES

"The railroads are truly a bulwark of our national economy," says Thomas W. Lamont, "To keep them sound is a matter of paramount concern to all of us."

Nearly a quarter of the nation's output of bituminous coal is absorbed by the railroads. They buy 20 per cent of all our fuel oil. They absorb 17 per cent of all our iron and steel. And this but scratches the surface of their purchasing, which touches practically all industry. Railway budgets embrace tens of thousands of separate commodities, ranging in importance from pins and lead pencils to locomotives and bridges.

Yet the railroads are put, by law, in a highly unfavorable competitive position. They are more rigidly regulated than any other industry—regulation which extends to every phase of operation, and in some cases makes management merely the voice of government officials. Their competitors are partially regulated, or not regulated at all. The railroads must pay out seven cents in taxes for every dollar they receive, while, according to the counsel for the Association of American Railroads, R. V. Fletcher, their competitors on highways pay 3 cents, and their competitors on the waterways next to nothing.

The MOUTHPIECE

EDGAR WALLACE and ROBERT CURTIS

READ THIS FIRST:
Charles Stuckey, of a London law firm, reluctantly has agreed to a scheme to defraud the daughter of one of his less respectable clients, Jacqueline Smith, of an inheritance of $1,000,000 from an American uncle. In keeping with the plan, Col. Alex Lutman, an ex-convict, and the lawyer are stopping at the same hotel in Concordia. In dire financial straits, Mrs. Smith has persuaded Jacqueline to marry Alex, posing as a wealthy Englishman, unsuspectingly falling into the plan of the three men to have her property assigned to him before she inherits the money. What if the girl, who has all of her property assigned to him before she inherits the money, has a change of heart? What if she turns up the plan of the three men to have her property assigned to him before she inherits the money? What if she turns up the plan of the three men to have her property assigned to him before she inherits the money?

CHAPTER 21

JACQUELINE held out her hand for the pen, which Charles had picked up and dipped in the ink, to sign the all-important deed. But he was hesitating, toying with it and pushing the pen viciously into his blotting pad. "It is all right, Charles, isn't it?" The solicitor tossed the pen aside, rose from his chair and began pacing the room. "Oh, yes, it's all right. Legally, I mean. Once you have signed it, you have only to get married to Jim Asson and you are your mother's are legally entitled to the money."

"Then, if it's all right," smiled Jacqueline, "why spoil a perfectly good pen by sticking it into your blotting paper? Why don't you want me to sign? You don't, do you?" Charles shrugged. "I suppose I have no right to say anything," he said. "I am only your solicitor."

"Only?" "What I mean is," said Charles, "it's not my business to butt into your private affairs, and if you love Jim Asson—but you don't. You've told me you don't. And it seems all wrong somehow."

"That I should marry him? I have explained all that to you, Charles. I'm marrying Jim Asson because I can't stand any more of the sort of life I have been leading. I'm coming back from London, always living in fear of someone coming up to you in the street and making a scene about a bill that hasn't been paid, sneaking out of hotels without paying our bill. We've done that lots of times. You know that, don't you?"

"Goodness knows what would have happened to me if I had not once if you hadn't advanced me money; she would have been in jail long ago. It's all that sort of thing I'm going to get free of. I wonder if you can understand, Charles, what it means to me to realize that I shall be living in a house where the rent is paid, and where there are no beastly people hanging about outside to pounce on me when I go out."

"Yes, you've had a rotten time," Charles admitted. "All the same, you know, it doesn't do to rush at things. Of course, I have no right to interfere, and if you think it's worth it..."

"Worth it? My dear Charles, that I had better sign, hadn't I?" "Right," said Charles, sealing himself at his desk. "All the same, Jacqueline, I wish you loved him."

A hint of a smile touched the girl's lips. "Is that true?" "Yes, of course it's true. Naturally it's true. If you're going to marry him, Oh, I don't know..."

he broke off suddenly. "What I mean is, there's no need to be in such a hurry over it. Why not wait a bit until you know Jim Asson better?"

"Wait? Tell that to mother's creditors, Charles. And do you really think I might fall in love with Jim Asson if I got to know him better?" She shook her head. "I have a funny kind of feeling, Charles, that if I did get to know him very well I might not marry him at all. I don't know why; it's just a feeling I've got. Ever since I promised to marry him I have not been able to know him any better than I do. But as I am going to marry him, the sooner it's over the better. It's all fixed up for next Wednesday, you know. Colonel Lutman's going to be best man, and mother's going to give me away. I like that 'give,' Charles, don't you?"

"Why next Wednesday? Why this awful rush?" "I left it all to mother and the Colonel to arrange," she told him, "and they both seemed anxious to fix it up as soon as possible." She was thoughtful for a moment, frowning at the window; and then she turned to Charles again. "Wonder," she said, "where Colonel Lutman comes into all this. Of course, I know he's Jim's trustee, but he seems dreadfully anxious to get me tied up to Jim as quickly as possible, and I can't imagine why. He gets nothing out of it, does he?"

"Charles' eyes avoided hers. He dipped the pen in the ink again and held it out to her. "If you really think it's worth it, you'd better sign."

She took the pen and glanced at him searchingly. "Can you give me any real reason, Charles, why I shouldn't sign?"

He shrugged his shoulders. "Only that you don't love Jim Asson."

"No other reason at all?" Charles shook his head. "We need a witness. I'll call Bells," he said, and rang the bell on his desk.

A few moments later Jacqueline had written her name between the two penciled crosses at the foot of the document and Mr. Bells, having duly witnessed her signature, returned to his desk in the other room. She tossed the pen onto the desk.

"There we are, Charles," she said, and picked up her bag and gloves and gave him her hand. "Goodbye, Mouthpiece," she said, and since Charles seemed to have nothing to say in reply, she walked from the office.

Stuckey crossed to the desk, picked up the document, glanced at it, and sighed as he placed it in the safe and locked the door. Then, returning to the window, he continued to stare through the grimy pane.

It was Lutman's voice that roused him from his reverie. "Well, Charles, did she sign all right?"

"Aren't you supposed to be taking Mrs. Smith to lunch, Lutman?" "I've sent Jim on with her and I'm joining them. I couldn't enjoy my lunch, Charles, with anxiety gnawing at my vitals, and I'm a little anxious about Jacqueline. She showed signs of becoming intractable. Did she sign?"

"Yes." Lutman smiled. "I congratulate you, Charles. All her awkward questions skillfully and convincingly answered, eh? All her doubts set at rest, all her sublime faith in the integrity of Charles Stuckey crystallized into a signature! So all is now plain sailing, and on Wednesday next the marriage will be solemnized."

"Perhaps," said Charles. "Lutman's bland smile disappeared and he stared searchingly at Charles as he stood gazing out of the window."

"What exactly does 'perhaps' mean?" he asked. "Just that you mustn't be too sure that the wedding will take place on Wednesday."

"But if the document is signed?" "It is," said Charles. "But unfortunately, Lutman, Jacqueline signed it in the wrong place."

"Hadn't you better explain?" Charles turned toward him with a shrug. "Simply that the girl made a mistake and signed the wrong place. It means preparing a fresh document for her to sign. If the deed is to be signed before the marriage, the marriage may have to be postponed."

Lutman's eyes narrowed. "I see," he said softly. "So that's the game is it, Charles? Where's the deed?"

"It's in my safe." Charles shook his head. "Nobody sees it."

"All things considered, Charles, is that quite reasonable?" "Reasonable or not, you're not seeing it."

Lutman strode to the safe, tried the door, found that it was locked, and swung round on Charles. "Listen, Charles," he said, with a steely ring in his voice, "you're going to open this safe and show me that deed."

"I'm showing the deed to no one." (To Be Continued)

Incorporated Yachts
The President's irate charge that yachts were being incorporated as "business" for tax-dodging purposes cast the shadow of suspicion on a large number of wealthy owners of pleasure craft.

The yacht register of the U. S. Bureau of Navigation lists several hundred vessels owned by corporations. The records also disclose that in the last few years there has been a constant increase in the number of incorporated yachts. All the ships registered by the Bureau are licensed as pleasure yachts and cannot be used for commercial purposes.

One of the largest incorporated yachts is the "Rene," a 945-ton, 206-foot vessel, carrying a crew of 39 and listed as owned by the Rene Corporation. The owner's address is given as the General Motors Building, Manhattan. Lloyd's Yacht Register of several years ago lists the owner as Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors Corporation.

Another big incorporated yacht is the "Zapala" owned by Sapelo Plantations, Georgia. Bureau records show that several years ago, prior to incorporation, the owner was listed as Howard E. Coffin, prominent auto and aviation magnate. Coffin entertained Presidents Coolidge and Hoover at his island estate off the Georgia coast.

The "Lotusland" 662 tons, 185 feet in length, and carrying a crew of 35, is registered in the name of the Lotusland Corporation of Delaware. Prior to the incorporation the owner was listed as Colonel E. A. Deeds, big industrialist and clubman of New York.

The yacht "Cressida," 327 tons, 145 feet and carrying a crew of 25, is registered under the ownership of the Pierce Investment Company of Delaware. Earlier records show the owner as Herman Oelrichs, wealthy New York socialite.

A specially interesting incorporated yacht is the "Vahdah," owned by the Crum Elbow, N. Y., Holding Corporation. Howland Spencer, husband of the president of the corporation, is a bitter New Deal foe, and for years has been feuding with the President over the use of the name "Crum Elbow."

The President claims this name for his ancestral estate on the Hudson. Spencer, whose home is on the opposite bank of the river, vigorously denies this, contending that his place is rightful possessor of the name.

Diet and Health

By
DR. LOGAN CLENDENING,
M. D.

SOME FOODS ESSENTIAL FOR HEALTH OF THE BODY

No matter how true the remark of old Robert Burton that every man should be a law unto himself about diets, he must include certain fundamental basic things in order to eat a balanced diet. These are meats, dairy products, breadstuffs, vegetables, fruits, sugar and sugary foods, fat and fatty foods, and such miscellaneous foods as condiments, soups and beverages.

However, it is not necessary for him to take exactly the same amount of each as his neighbor does, nor the same form of each. There are substitutes for many of these things. For instance, in the realm of meat there are a great many things that could be substituted for those who are afraid of meat, or who have been told they should not eat it.

Anglo-Saxon people and people of northern Europe, particularly, are very fond of meat. As a matter of fact, it occupies a high position in the diet of most people. Different kinds of meat, however, differ very little in composition. Almost all meats contain a certain amount of fat; even lean meat contains 18 per cent. Meats are all good sources of phosphorus and iron. They are good blood builders, although muscle meats are not as good blood builders as organs, such as liver and kidneys.

The amount of meat that is eaten by the average person depends very largely on his financial condition, for it is the most expensive of all foods.

Substitutes for Meat
It is possible, however, to live without meats by using substitutes. Such a meat substitute list is given by Dr. Lewis R. Wolberg as follows: cottage cheese, eggs, buttermilk, kumys, whole milk, skim milk, sour milk.

People in the Near East eat very little meat, but they use a great deal of nuts, wheat and rice. Nuts and leguminous vegetables, such as beans and peas, are good substitutes for meat, and are the cheapest source of protein.

Dr. Wolberg says, "While the proteins of nuts and soy beans are fairly adequate (though not nearly as efficient as the proteins of milk, eggs and fish), the proteins of dry peas and beans (navy, kidney, lima, frijoles) are of much lower biologic value. Canning does not materially alter legumes such as peas and beans. Legumes are good sources of phosphorus and iron, but poor sources of calcium, sodium and chlorine. Vitamin B is supplied in good quantity, especially by navy, kidney and soy beans; however, Vitamin A and C are either low or lacking. "Legumes and nuts may therefore be used as sources of protein in the diet, but it is necessary to consume, in addition, milk or meat in order to supplement the deficiencies of the protein. "Eggs are an extremely nutritious element of the diet, helping to build blood, muscle and bone. The yolk of egg is richer in protective materials than the white. The minerals supplied by eggs are phosphorus, iron, sulphur and some calcium. Essential substances supplied are Vitamins A, B-1, B-2, and D. The protein is of the highest quality and the fat easily assimilated. Eggs rank with milk as the most perfectly balanced of foods. Eggs may replace milk in the diet where a specific sensitivity to milk exists. Because of the high quality of eggs as a food, they are frequently used in the diet of malnourished individuals or those suffering from a chronic debilitating illness."

Possession of Boundaries of State Seventeen Years After Statehood

Compiled by State Historical Society of Missouri, Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary.

Unknown to the average Missourian is the fact that not until seventeen years after Missouri became a state did she come into possession of her existing boundaries. The present familiar northwestern triangle of the state, comprising the counties of Atchison, Holt, Nodaway, Andrew, Buchanan and Platte, did not become formally a part of Missouri until 1837. 1937, therefore, commemorates the centennial of the addition to Missouri of this important region which was acquired by the state through the famous Platte Purchase.

The acquisition of the Purchase was the result of the ever present land-hunger of the pioneer. Though Missouri at the time of her statehood was the largest state in the Union, a newspaper man observed as early as 1819 that it was impossible for the government to keep the frontier settlers from crossing into the fertile lands of the Little Platte.

Prior to Missouri's acquisition of statehood, Joseph Robidoux engaged in a successful trade with the Indians on the present site of St. Joseph. Valentine Bernard, Papin and Pierre Chouteau, Jr., also had important trading establishments. Following the establishment of Fort Leavenworth in 1827, squatters at the small trading post at Rialto on the Missouri river and at Zador Martin's ferry on the Leavenworth road had to be driven out by U. S. soldiers. By the summer of 1837, the region had an estimated population of 250 to 300 white families with the consequence that the problems of Indian depredations over the Indian boundary line and of the encroachment of whites on the territory of the Indians became acute.

In 1836 and 1837, following a series of meetings of citizens in western Missouri and of public petitions, memorials and bills in the State legislature and national congress, public demand finally brought the extension of Indian titles in the Platte country. In June 7, 1836, the President signed the congressional "Act to extend the Western Boundaries of the State of Missouri." On December 16, the governor approved the act of the General Assembly of Missouri giving assent to the extension and on March 28, 1837, President Van Buren issued his proclamation giving effect to the provisions of the national act of June 7.

Immediately following the purchase, a flood of settlers poured into the newly acquired and fabulously rich regions of northwest Missouri. A "horde of sooners" dashed from the adjoining counties of Clay and Clinton. In 1837, '38, and '39, crowded steamboats brought settlers from Missouri, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. By 1840, when the State as a whole had a population of but 4 1/2 persons to the square mile, Platte county had 20. Weston, in particular, stimulated by the rich surrounding agricultural lands which were splendidly adapted to the growth of hemp and tobacco, by river commerce and by the frontier trade with the Indians, with the government military posts and with New Mexico and Salt Lake, grew with a rapidity scarcely excelled in modern times and jumped into a conspicuous position as the dominant commercial rival of St. Louis. In short, the region of the Platte purchase, rich in soil, products, and men entered upon a brilliant history which is one of the outstanding chapters of the history of the state.

In the even 100 years that have elapsed since the Purchase, it is interesting to note the present day importance of the Purchase region to Missouri. Comprising something less than 2,000,000 acres, it constitutes today approximately 4 per cent of Missouri's total area and its population a little more than 5 per cent of the state's population. So rich is it, that the value of its manufactured products, according to the last census, amounted to 6 per cent of the manufactured products of the state and its farm lands and buildings to 11 per cent. Its estimated valuation of real and personal property is approximately 8 per cent of the total wealth of Missouri exclusive of St. Louis, or $207,746,257. St. Joseph, in Buchanan county, with a population of 80,935 is Missouri's third largest city. In addition, the Purchase has furnished five of Missouri's thirty-nine governors.

DOWN TO YEAR'S VIGIL AT POLE

By The Associated Press.
MOSCOW, June 7.—Four Soviet explorers settled down today with their dog to a year's lonely vigil on an ice floe at the top of the world for a series of weather observations preliminary to the establishment of a polar air route from Moscow to San Francisco.

Their comrades, having established them May 21 for the long stay in the polar wastes, took off in airplanes at 3:30 a. m. yesterday from the camp near the north pole.

Three of the four planes reached the Soviet expedition's base at Rudolf Island 560 miles away, on schedule, five-and-a-half hours later. The fourth was down near the 85th parallel, about 350 miles from the pole.

The stranded plane had given part of its gasoline supply to the other three so they might finish the flight.

After reaching Rudolf Island, Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, the director of the expedition wireless Moscow that A. I. Alexiev, pilot of the fourth plane, "already has prepared a field for a takeoff to be made as soon as we can send him fuel."

Ivan Papilin, veteran of the arctic, was leader of the group which will live on the polar drifts for a year. With him were Ernest Krenkel, radio operator, Pyotr Shirof, hydro-biologist, and Eugene Federoff, magnetologist.

A blizzard was developing as they began their stay. The temperature was 24.8 above zero Fahrenheit; barometric pressure was 30.76; visibility two and a half to six miles with a 300 yard ceiling.

The drifting ice floe on which their specially constructed fur and elderdown lined hut was set up was about 75 miles from the pole. It had drifted from within 13 miles of the pole since May 21.

GENERAL LABOR HOLIDAY CALLED IN LANSING, MICH.

Protest Arrest of Pickets as Several Strikes Elsewhere End

By The Associated Press
A general labor holiday was called in Lansing, Mich., and garbage collectors and incinerator maintenance employees went on strike in Providence, R. I., today as at least 70,000 idle workers looked to presidential intervention in the widespread steel strike.

At the same time, John L. Lewis gave the approval of his Committee for Industrial Organization to the administration's wage and hour legislation but opposed what he called "wage fixing" contrary to "American precedent and practice." He testified before a joint congressional committee in Washington.

Several thousand persons marched behind banners of the United Automobile Workers of America and blockaded a square surrounding Michigan's capitol building at Lansing in protest against the arrest of eight pickets. They were charged with molesting and disturbing laborers engaged in peaceful pursuit.

Officials of the Olds Motor Works, Fisher Body Corporation, the Reo Motor Car Company and the Motor Wheel Corporation said their plants were closed by the strike.

Edward Carr, a spokesman for the garbage crews, at Providence, said the men had quit because the city failed to employ more help, buy trucks for three new routes and pay the men on the basis of 54 hours weekly instead of 50.

Steel strikers massed an estimated 5,000 men for a brief demonstration at two Indiana Harbor, Ind., plants, dispersed peacefully after parading.

Court action to forestall an order by Chicago's mayor to evacuate 1,400 non-striking workers from Republic Steel Corporation's plant there appeared imminent. James L. Hyland, company district manager, was said to be "in conference" on the order, which was to become effective at 12:30 p. m. central standard time.

Termination of a three-day truck drivers' strike in Omaha, Neb., was predicted by Virgil Floyd, A. F. of L. organizer, who said 13 companies had signed contracts providing for closed shops and were rapidly resuming operations. Approximately a score of smaller companies were expected to sign agreements shortly.

Managers of 20 large downtown office buildings in St. Louis were presented demands for union recognition and adjustment of working hours and wages by the Building Service Workers Union, a C. I. O. affiliate.

Seven hundred workers were said to be affected by the demands, which included a 40 hour five day week and minimum monthly wages of $80 for men and $60 for women.

In a telegram to President Roosevelt, the grievance committee of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, a John L. Lewis C. I. O. affiliate, appealed for peaceful settlement of the strike at the Republic Steel Corporation, Inland Steel Company and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company "by having joint-wage agreements written and signed by the steel corporations and the S. W. O. C."

At Richmond, Calif., striking C. I. O. union members voted 5 to 1 to accept a proposal of their leaders to end the 12-day tie-up at the Ford Motor Company assembly plant. Only 200 of the 1,800 employees were called back today. Officials said it would be a week before full operations were resumed.

Frank Slaby, union president, said it had won "recognition in fact" by the management, but at Detroit Harry Bennett, personnel director of the Ford Company, asserted "no body has any authority" to recognize the United Automobile Workers as sole collective bargaining agency for the Richmond plant. Other officials also disputed the union chief's claims.

Meanwhile, the U. A. W. drafted demands for a new labor contract with the General Motors Corporation. Details were not announced, but under terms of the present contract, new negotiations can begin June 11.

From there they will make a short visit in Racine, Wis., where Charles Burns is employed and visit other cities in that vicinity. Miss McEniry, who has been a student at St. Mary College in Leavenworth, Kas., for the past year, arrived home Sunday evening.

STOCK HANDLERS STRIKE AT ST. LOUIS

By The Associated Press.
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., June 7.—Three hundred drivers and stock handlers at the National Stockyards, one of the world's largest stock markets, went on strike today as negotiations for wage increases and a closed shop, carried on since last December, collapsed.

The strike resulted in congestion and confusion in handling the heavy Monday receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep, estimated at 24,500 head. It did not affect the operation of packing plants.

Picket lines formed at the five entrances of the extensive yards at 5 a. m. There was no attempt to stop the delivery of cattle. The strikers are members of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers International Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

J. G. Schaeffer, vice president of the stockyard company, said he had not been notified that the men planned to strike today. He declined to discuss the union's demands which include a 55-cent hourly minimum, time and a half for overtime, a 48-hour work week with a guarantee of 40 hours in addition to a closed shop.

At a conference yesterday company officials offered a 2-cent hourly wage increase, which would bring the minimum to 48 cents an hour. The union rejected the offer last night.

"EMPLOY WHO WISH" IN COURT ORDER

By The Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, June 7.—Federal District Judge Merrill E. Otis today informed trustees of the Hotel Kansas City, under court receivership, that they could employ whomever they wished regardless of a hotel strike here.

"I have no instructions to give you other than those implied in the order appointing you—that you operate the hotel," Judge Otis wrote John Cooper, one of the receivers, in reply to a request for instructions.

"You and your co-trustees are operating the hotel as officers of this court. The court is a part of the government of the United States. Because you act for the court you need have no fear that anyone will undertake to hinder you in the discharge of your duties."

Attorneys for eight hotel operators and the two striking A. F. of L. unions resumed conferences seeking a strike settlement today.

Dairy Farmer Speaker Before The Rotarians

a proper place to market the product, and then to build the dairy program to fit this market. It is necessary, he said, to have the proper crops for dairy cattle, to get the kind of production from the dairy herd that is wanted.

Mr. Adams said it is necessary to have the ground tested for hay and legume crops to ascertain if lime is necessary.

No general program, he said, will fit every farm, and while his ideas are the result of information obtained from the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, no farmer, he stated, can take a general program and work it out successfully. He must select those things that are best suited to his program.

Attention To Crops

He declared that one should pay a great deal of attention to raising seasonable crops, for they reduce expenses, and provide the proper feed at the proper time, which otherwise would be expensive to purchase. He is producing certified milk on his farm, he said, which means that it must meet the requirements of the Jackson County Medical Association. There are only 106 certified dairy farms in the United States and six of these are servicing Kansas City.

In arranging for the production of milk for a community, he said, one must take into consideration the kind of milk the public wants.

Referring to thoroughbred cattle, he said that regardless of the breed—he preferred Holstein, but others may prefer other breeds—a cow must produce. Complete records should be kept, he said, not only on the product of the soil, but on the amount each cow produces. For if five or ten cows are not producing to a profit, they will reduce the average of the herd, even if ten are good producers.

Mr. Adams suggested keeping a record of the tractor and horse power—horses may, he said, be eating up the profits.

He mentioned briefly the Bang disease, stating that blood tests should be taken of the cattle to detect the disease, if present, and if possible it should be prevented.

Cows, he said, should be fed balanced rations, and again records on the feeding watched closely. He stated that he had found silage very profitable, producing as much as $17 an acre on the basis of hay.

Jean Harlow Of Movie Fame, Dies In Brief Illness

who turned movie producer, spent two million dollars making "Hell's Angels" as a silent picture. Her swift rise to fame as a motion picture actress was punctuated by marital troubles.

Before entering films, she was divorced in 1929 from Charles McGrew, Chicago sportsman.

She married Paul Bern, film executive, in 1932. Just one month later, Bern committed suicide, leaving a cryptic note reading:

"Dearest: Unfortunately, this is the only way to make good the frightful wrong I have done you and to wipe out my abject humiliation. I love you. P. S.—Understand that last night was only a comedy."

The note was addressed to Miss Harlow and signed by Bern.

The following year, on September 18, 1933, Miss Harlow eloped to Yuma, Ariz., with Hal Rosson, ace film camera man. This union lasted but a few months.

Formerly of Kansas City, Miss Harlow's constant escort since then was suave William Powell, actor with her studio, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

She lived in a Kansas City suburb until she was 10 years old. Then spent three years in California. With her parents she returned to Kansas City, then went to Highland Park, Chicago. She attended the Perry School for girls at Lake Forest, Ill.

Her early career in pictures was far from sensational. She was a bathing beauty, worked in mob scenes, played two-reelers. Her film life was threatened with complete collapse when her grandfather in Kansas City saw her on the screen, scantily clad in lacy black underthings.

He protested bitterly. Miss Harlow asked for a release from her contract and obtained it.

Camera Lure Too Great
But the lure of the camera was too great. After an interlude of doing nothing, she re-entered motion pictures, but showed no evidence of the talents she possessed until Howard Hughes gave her the role of the "blonde menace" in the epic war-time picture, "Hell's Angels."

She was a hit. The results of her performance were far-reaching. The world became platinum blonde-conscious. Several years later, Miss Harlow transformed her shining hair to red tresses, but only temporarily.

expressed his belief to authorities that Bern had been slain.
The film colony was on edge until verdict of suicide was given.
Miss Harlow was known to all who came in contact with her—socially or professionally—as a "good scout."

Major Program Of Gov. Stark Has Been Enacted

Joseph got permanent registration—the first two without signature clauses—and Springfield and Joplin changed to listing voters every four years.

Hangings in county seat towns were abolished by passage of the "lethal gas" law centralizing executions at the state prison. It will be effective 90 days after the assembly adjourns.

In the field of public health the assembly established a state cancer hospital with supplementary clinics, provided money for a new building for the trachoma hospital at Rolla, approved a statewide anti-narcotics law, and tightened restrictions on the practice of dentistry.

An $850,000 state office building was approved to house the rapidly-expanding clerical force.

A new 3-member probations and paroles board was set up to give the "forgotten prisoner" a hearing, and supervise those released. The governor still will have the last word.

Parts of the governor's program not acted on include establishment of a state revenue department, approval of a teachers' retirement fund, and abolition of the 5-cent state property tax.

Governor Stark blocked the perennial attempt to restore the "shotgun motion" in appeals from criminal case convictions, with a veto.

Ratification of the federal child labor amendment was refused by the assembly for the fourth time, and a state anti-child-labor law passed. A minimum-wage bill for women and children died in senate committee, as did the "relief" bill for high-school districts.

The stormy fire insurance investigation resulted in a house committee's giving a clean bill of health to the state insurance department.

Dr. J. A. Gray, Atchison county Republican, "sat down" for 32 hours on a bread and water diet to get a list of clerks he said exceeded the 150 allowed the assembly by the constitution. He got the list but was unsuccessful in supreme court action to stop their pay. Meanwhile, the attorney general's investigation into clerk hire is continuing.

ERROL FLYNN TO BOX A PUGILIST

HOLLYWOOD, June 7.—Errol Flynn's classic countenance, valued by his studio at more than a million dollars, is due to be exposed to the blows of a professional pugilist for the sake of film realism.

Flynn is now in training for a screen "match" with Heavyweight Jack Roper. If history repeats, Roper—not Flynn—is liable to be knocked out.

Trainers report Flynn, who boxed for Ireland in the 1928 Olympic games, has a good left hand but poor wind. The actor likes a long rest about the third round.

DR. R. E. GOUGE RETURNS FROM NEW MEXICO

Dr. R. E. Gouge, veterinarian, and Mrs. Gouge, who have been for the past several months in New Mexico, have returned to Sedalia and Dr. Gouge will be associated here with his father, Dr. M. E. Gouge.

Dr. Gouge and son, who are now located in business at 711 West Main street, are planning on building a veterinary hospital for large and small animals. Construction will probably begin next month.

INSURGENTS RESUME THE BILBAO PUSH

By The Associated Press.
Spanish insurgents resumed their push toward besieged Bilbao today while Germany and Italy, the two Fascist powers which have recognized the insurgent administration, tightened their bonds.

Reports reaching Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish border, said 63 insurgent planes bombed Lexama, only two miles outside Bilbao.

Seven miles southeast of the refugee-filled city, troops of both sides were locked in a struggle for an important highway junction at Lemoona.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler conferred the grand cross of the Order of the German Eagles on Italy's Premier Benito Mussolini, calling the award "a sign of my friendship, in honor of his (Mussolini's) great merits and in furtherance of the hearty understanding between Italy and the German Reich."

It Duce, aboard one of his naval vessels off Naples, displayed Italy's sea power for Marshal Werner Von Blomberg, Hitler's minister of war, with a sham battle in which more than 150 warships and more than 70 submarines participated. Von Blomberg already had inspected Italy's land forces. Mussolini sought to convince Germany of the potential value of Italo-German friendship.

Italy and Germany still had not returned to the international non-intervention committee's naval patrol of Spain.

RACING GOES ON AFTER 60 HORSES DIED IN BLAZE

Two Men Lost Lives In Fire at Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben Track

By The Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 7.—Racing went on as usual today at the Ak-Sar-Ben track where two men and at least 60 race and show horses died in a fire.

Ak-Sar-Ben officials estimated the loss at between $220,000 and $230,000.

The two men who died when flames swept one of the main barns yesterday were Ed Kelly, about 25, a race horse "rubber," and W. T. Lochlear, 60, trainer, of San Saba, Tex.

Firemen found their bodies in the ruins of the barn and expressed belief they died trying to lead race horses to safety.

In a hospital, burned seriously, were J. E. Duffy of Bangor, Me., and Clyde Bailey of Big Spring, Tex., both employed by racing stables. The men ran from the barn, their clothes in flames.

Witnesses said the barn, filled with hay and equipment, burned rapidly and was half destroyed before firemen could make the long run to the field.

J. Isaacson, Ak-Sar-Ben secretary, said the barn was valued at $135,000. Horsemen estimated the loss of horses at $50,000 and loss of equipment at between $35,000 and $45,000.

Track men said better known racers lost included "Jack Murphy," owned by R. C. Graff of Chicago, "Queen O' Gold," owned by J. C. Elfer of Chicago, "Trans Pecos," and "Square Dance" of the Reynolds stable at Fort Worth, Tex., and "Lady Peenzie" and "Hustle Away," of the D. Christian stable, Big Spring, Tex.

Levine-Goldin Wedding

The marriage of Miss Esther Rose Goldin, daughter of Mr. Barnett Goldin, 1818 East Sixth street and Mr. Maurice Aaron Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Levine, of Brooklyn, N. Y., took place at Temple Beth El at 5 o'clock Sunday evening. Rabbi Adolph J. Feinberg read the ceremony, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The altar was flanked with southern smilax and palms. Baskets of gladioli, two of salmon pink, two of white and two of orchid shades were used and candelabra, with seven burning candles were on either side of the altar. Two baskets of lilies were placed on the steps leading to the chancel.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, with long train. Her wedding veil fell from a coronet studded with pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of lilies.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. S. Horowitz, of Kansas City, as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were two other sisters, Miss Dorothy Goldin and Miss Bessie Goldin, of Sedalia, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Minn B. Levine, of Brooklyn. The bridegroom was attended by Sam Goldin, brother of the bride. Norman Chasloff, Philip Kain, Aaron Mindell and Fred Kueck were ushers.

Proceeding the bride and her father to the altar were little Annette Hirsch, flower girl and David Louis Horowitz, nephew of the bride, ring bearer.

The bridesmaids and matron of honor were in pastel shade frocks. Mrs. Horowitz in aqua marine organza, Miss Levine in cornflower blue mousseline de soie, Miss Dorothy Goldin in rainbow net and Miss Bessie Goldin in cream lace over blue. They carried bouquets of gladioli of pastel shades. Mrs. Levine, the bridegroom's mother, who with Mr. Levine, stood in the chancel with the bride, wore a brown lace. Her flowers were a shoulder bouquet of yellow roses.

Little Annette Hirsch wore a dress of pink, floor length. The little ring bearer was in white.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. E. F. Yancey, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Fred Ross, sang "Today," Mrs. Ross played the Lohengrin march as they entered and Mendelssohn's as a recessional.

After the marriage a reception was held in the Ambassador room of Hotel Bothwell, and among the guests were many from out of town. Metcalf's orchestra played during the evening.

The bride and bridegroom left Sunday night, by automobile, to drive through Kentucky and Virginia, then to New York, and on June 12 will sail on the S. S. Queen of Bermuda, for a nine day's visit in Bermuda. The bride's going away costume was a beige ensemble with fox fur.

Mrs. Levine, nee Miss Goldin, was born and reared in Sedalia, graduated from Smith-Cotton high school, and later was employed in her father's grocery store. It was while visiting an uncle in New York that she met Mr. Levine, who is a native in New York state. He was born and reared in Schenectady and is now connected with the New York Stock Exchange, firm of Ward Gruver and Company.

The couple will reside in Brooklyn.

Honor Engaged Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Russell, of the Quincy Apartments, entertained a small group of friends at supper Sunday evening, in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Marian Shaffer, and Mr. Eugene Merry, which will take place Sunday, June 13.

The dining table was beautifully set in blue and gold. The centerpiece consisted of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium, with burning tapers on either side, surrounded by a miniature wedding party. A delicious supper was served.

The evening was spent informally.

Married at Olathe

Robert Miller, of McAllister Springs, and Miss Rose Lee Barnett, of Sweet Springs, were married Friday afternoon, May 21, at Olathe, Kas., by Judge Bert Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scholle, also of McAllister Springs, witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Barnett, of Sweet Springs and a graduate of Sweet Springs high school, class of 1935. The

Luncheon For Miss Bothwell

Miss Lucy Bothwell was honored at a luncheon this afternoon at the Heald Memorial Club House by the board of the Helen G. Steele Music Club, the board of Sorosis and the board of the Heald Club House committee.

The table decorations were very clever and attractive. The favors were in the shape of a globe, and on the doilies was a map of Europe with the outline of the places where Miss Bothwell will visit on her trip abroad.

The room and table were attractively decorated with the ever beautiful blue roses. Following the luncheon a short program was presented.

Double Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Mehl of 1402 South Warren avenue, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday and also the birthday of Mr. Mehl. After dinner, which many friends and out of town guests attended, the afternoon was spent in taking pictures.

Those present were: Mrs. F. A. Mehl, Miss Frances Mehl, Frank and Lawrence Mehl, Mrs. Susie Mehl, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Luedeker, and two children Carol and Marie, Mrs. Agnes King, of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Seifert and two children, Chellis and Ida Mae, Mr. and Mrs. T. Seifert of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Shumate and Marvin Shumate of Pleasant Green, and Miss Rose Steimel, of Tipton.

Line Party Today

LaVonne Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright, Broadway and Barrett, entertained a number of guests at a line party at the Liberty Theatre this afternoon, complimenting Sally Monroe, little daughter of Lieutenant-Commander Frank Monroe, U. S. N. and Mrs. Monroe, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monroe of the Terry apartments.

After the theatre performance the guests were served refreshments in the Palm room of Hotel Bothwell. LaVonne's guests were Caroline Cloney, Dorothy Dean, Bettie May Barnett, Vera May Gross, Martha Jones, Nancy Lou Lumpee, Jean Milton, Louise Milton, Betty Rae Milton, Mary Jane Scott, Janet Stanley, Betty Mae Trader, Roberta Tucker, of Atchison, Kas., and Sally Monroe, the honor guest.

MERCY FLIGHT TO AID SURGEONS VAIN

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Three metal lead pencil caps flown here from New York Sunday to aid surgeons in removing a pencil cap from a lung of a 12-year-old boy proved to be of the wrong type.

After Andrew Blakely, Jr., accidentally drew the metal cap into a lung last Thursday and surgeons had failed to remove it with a bronchoscope, they began a search for a cap like it so they could fashion an instrument to fit it.

Efforts to find such a cap here failed. Roy Ferguson, the boy's stepfather, last night telegraphed New York police a more detailed description of the cap and the search was begun anew.

HEART ATTACK FATAL AFTER SUFFERING COUGHING ATTACK

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Fred Meyer, 52, was eating popcorn as he drove his automobile along highway 66, near Pacific, Mo.

He choked on a piece, was seized with a coughing attack, and pulling to the side of the road, died before a physician could be summoned.

Dr. A. I. McNay, Pacific, who performed an autopsy, said death was caused by a heart attack, induced by the coughing.

ATHLETICS DROP 4 TO 1 GAME TO K. C. POLICEMEN

Horner Holds Foe to Six Hits, But Wildness at Start Is Costly

The Kansas City Police team capitalized on Gene Horner's early wildness and some loose fielding by the home forces to score a 4 to 1 victory over the Sedalia Athletics baseball club Sunday afternoon before a large crowd at Liberty Park.

The visitors picked up their only earned runs of the game in the opening stanza when they racked up two tallies after two were out. Horner, who was having difficulty with his control, issued a base on balls to Adamson; Bowles, a member of the A's several seasons ago, was hit by a pitched ball, and Clark doubled to center to send both runners across the plate.

The Policemen had runners on the base lines several times in the following innings, but were unable to score again until the sixth when their final brace of runs was registered. Light's error and a single by Adamson after Gormley had opened the sixth with a double produced the runs.

The Athletics scored their only run in their half of the sixth when Light led off with a double, advanced to third as Barnes grounded out and went home on Case's grounder to short.

Two of the A's six hits came in the ninth inning, but a double play cut short a promising Sedalia rally. The game, except for the sixth stanza, was well played and the Athletics had no apologies to make for their showing against the Policemen who are rated highly in semi-pro circles of Kansas and western Missouri.

Next Sunday the Sedalians take on Versailles on the park diamond. The Morgan countians boast a string of 21 victories, five of which have been added this season to a streak of 16 last year.

THE SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 7.—This must be the "beaningest" town in the country....No sooner does Mickey Cochrane leave the hospital than two other guys move in—Jo Jo Moore of the Giants (and the best 154-game outfielder in the league in this book) was plugged by Larry French as he slid into second....Two days later, Fred Schulte, Pirate outfielder, got in the way of one of Cliff Melton's hard ones....Both are hospital cases....Al Schacht, baseball comedian, has been signed by Warner Brothers for three pictures and now is taking screen tests....Best race boss of the year is—you said it—War Admiral....If you haven't already doffed that new kelly, do it now.

Ralph Trost, golf expert of the Brooklyn Eagle, advocates parimutuels for golf....and why not?...Tommy Farr, who beat Max Bear and who meets Walter Neusel June 15, sails the next day to see Braddock and Louis....which shows you how seriously he is considering a "title" bout with Max Schmeling....Most forlorn guy in American is the journalist Hitler sent over to report the Braddock-Schmeling fight....Ja Wohl....Jack Crawford, once ranked with Fred Perry and Ellisworth Vines as the "greats" of tennis, is only a shadow of his old self....Those preliminary boys who were booked to fight on the Schmeling-Phantom card, will be paid off in full by Madison Square Garden....easy money, wot'it?

Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey both will be on hand when Braddock fights Louis....Carl Hubbell, who admits he is slipping, says 1933 was his peak year....Says he now pitches more with his head than with his arm....Newton (Bucky) Jacobs, who has hurled three no-hitters for the University of Richmond this season, may pass up offers from virtually every major league club to return to Richmond as baseball coach.

Injury at Belmont May Force War Admiral to Retire for the Season

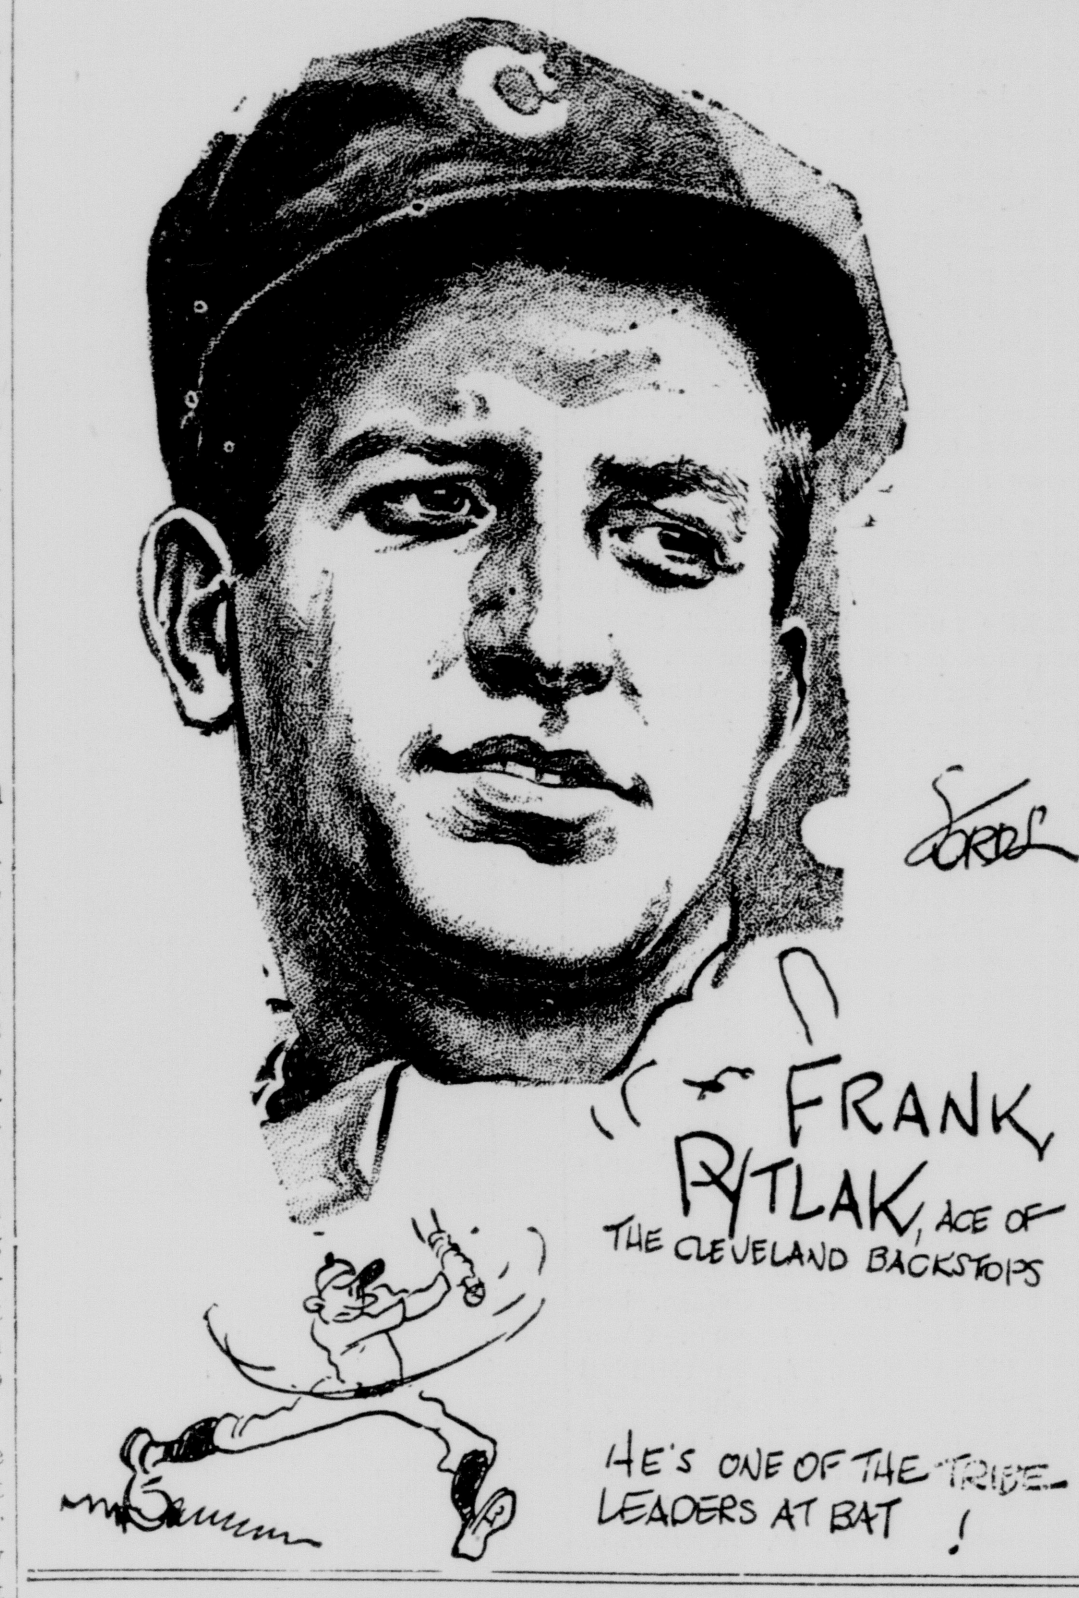

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—Winner of the coveted "triple crown" of American racing—one of the few feats his famous sire never achieved—War Admiral, Samuel Riddle's speedy little son of Man O' War, probably has lost his chance to become one of the turf's great money winning three-year-olds.

The colt proved his gameness and staying power in a record-smashing victory in the Belmont stakes before a crowd of 35,000 Saturday, but a stumble at the start left him with a leg injury that probably will keep him from racing this season.

When he returned to the stable after finishing four lengths in front of Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter and 14 ahead of an outsider, Harry F. Guggenheim's Vamoose, the colt was covered with blood and had a wound the size of a half dollar on his right foreleg. He was barely able to put a little weight on the leg yesterday and his trainer, George Conway, was fearful of infection.

"I don't see how he can be brought back to the races before fall and even that is very doubtful," Conway said.

Too Late to Classify—Tommy was very talkative, and his father ordered him to remain silent at dinner time. At one meal Tommy seemed to be bursting to speak, so that after a time his father relented.
"Well, my boy, what is it?" he asked.
"Are caterpillars good to eat?" asked Tommy.
"No," said his father. "What makes you ask that?"
"You had one on your lettuce, but it's gone now," replied the youngster.

DIXCEL CLUB BEATS IONIA BY 6-2 SCORE

The Dixcel Oilers chalked up their third victory of the season Sunday afternoon by turning back Ionia, 6 to 2, in a game on the Ionia diamond.

Glasgow, on the mound for the Oilers, limited the opposition to six hits while his mates were collecting 11 off Tubising.

Birch and Weise led the winners' attack with three hits apiece. Tubising of the losers struck out 10.

But, sadly enough, it happened when they were out on the main through highway, less than two miles from Kentland. No warning of any sort—nothing but an ear-splitting BANG that rocked the car like a toy horse!

The three children let out a pitiful shriek, the car streaked to the left. Mr. Folkerth couldn't steer—he couldn't stop! A speeding sedan blocked the way. But by some stroke of fortune the oncoming car took a

SHARP BREAK ON CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, June 7.—(AP)—Extreme breaks of four cents a bushel in corn prices late today unsettled the entire list of grains, and more than overcame wheat market advances due to black dust reports.
Doing much to bring about a rush of corn sales were reports of favorable progress of the new domestic corn crop, together with big arrivals of Argentine corn and relative cheapness of competitive feeds. Deferred future de-

DEATH OF BEST MAN
CAUSES WEDDING DELAY

By The Associated Press.
EFFINGHAM, Ill., June 7.—The wedding of Boyce McKnelly, 24, Gary, Ind., and Miss Pearl Venable, of Flora, Ill., was indefinitely postponed today following the death yesterday of Charles Grinstaff, 18, Louisville, Ill., the intended best man.

McKnelly and Grinstaff were injured in an automobile collision here Saturday, while en route to the wedding at Flora. Plans to have the ceremony in the hospital here yesterday were abandoned when Grinstaff died of a fractured skull. The groom suffered head injuries.

ECLIPSE FOR THE
SUN ON TUESDAY

By CAPT. ANDREW S. SHICKEY
U. S. Naval Observatory
(Written for the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The total eclipse of the sun Tuesday, June 8, will not be observable in the United States except as a slight darkening of the sun in the extreme southwestern part of the country.

It will be observable in the Hawaiian and Samoan Islands but only as a partial eclipse.

Nevertheless, in the path of its shadow, the 1937 eclipse will be the longest in duration of any eclipse in more than 1,000 years. Totality will be four minutes and eight seconds. Maximum duration will be seven minutes and four seconds. The path sweeps across the Pacific ocean between sunrise and sunset over a distance of 8,800 miles. It will pass over only two small islands, Enderbury and Canton of the Phoenix group, where an expedition sponsored by the U. S. Navy and the National Geographic Society and another from New Zealand are already set up in preparation for making scientific observations during totality at that point.

The Naval Observatory's interest in connection with eclipses is mostly in obtaining the times of contact of the moon's limb with that of the sun. These data are collected chiefly for use in the nautical almanac office, where they are utilized at long intervals to obtain corrections to the elements of the moon's orbit, by means of which its position in the heavens is predicted.

AID ASKED IN WAR
AGAINST HAY FEVER

By The Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, June 7.—The Heart of America Hay Fever Club, newly organized here, asked for federal and state aid in a drive aimed at the "roots" of the ailment for which the organization is named and from which all its members suffer.

The "roots," says Dr. D. M. Nigro, club president, are those of the ragweed plant, pollen of which sets "approximately three million" in the United States to sniffling annually.

Dr. Nigro made public a letter sent by the club to President Roosevelt, Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri and Senator Harry S. Truman, Missouri, stating:

"The yearly fall epidemic can be minimized and wiped out if the sturdy green plants in lawns, vacant lots and pastures are destroyed by the roots, not merely cut. The Club is on record to ask for state aid and federal laws to regulate the farmers and property owners failing to destroy the noxious weed."

The group, with but 40 members now—some doctors, some laymen, but all sneezers—has national aspirations, Dr. Nigro said, but will concentrate its immediate membership drive in the Missouri valley area which, his letter says, is the hardest hit and from which "millions of people are leaving their own cities and going elsewhere when the ragweed begins to bloom about August 15."

A cash prize of $150 was awarded the Warrensburg lodge for the best ritualistic team. This team will represent Missouri in the National ritualistic contests at the Denver convention next month.

Miss Mamie Dickmann, St. Louis, sister of Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann, was elected president of the newly organized Ladies Auxiliary. Mrs. M. E. Gouze, Sedalia, was elected vice president and Mrs. T. J. Harte, St. Louis, secretary.

MISSOURI BODY
TO PLAN STRATEGY

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Missouri congressional delegation planned today to call a strategy conference, probably this week, in an effort to obtain a $5,000,000 refund of 1936 unemployment insurance taxes paid into the federal treasury by Missouri companies.

The Missouri legislature passed recently an unemployment insurance bill, and Gov. Lloyd C. Stark telegraphed the state's members of congress to "urgently request" them to seek "suitable legislation."

States which had approved unemployment insurance laws prior to Jan. 1 received a refund of 90 per cent of the unemployment taxes collected within their borders. Missouri and Kansas are among the states which have enacted such laws since the January 1 deadline.

Representative John J. Cochran of St. Louis has introduced a bill to extend the deadline for enacting approved unemployment insurance laws from January 1, 1937 to January 1, 1938.

On the senate side, a similar bill has been introduced by a group of senators from states which did not meet the original deadline.

PREDICT SLASH ON
SLUM CLEARANCE

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—Informal administration officials predicted the 1-billion-dollar Wagner slum clearance bill would be revamped to provide outlays of only a few million dollars in the next fiscal year. Although approving the principle of slum clearance, Secretary Morgenthau raised vigorous objections to the bill when it was introduced several months ago, contending huge expenditures for housing would further delay attainment of a balanced budget.

IT'S SWELL TO FEEL SWELL!

To guard your health demand FRESH cigarettes

YOU CAN'T BUY A STALE OLD GOLD

EXTREMES of climate, dampness, dryness... all radically affect cigarettes. Make them unpleasant and flat to your taste. Harsh and irritating to your throat! Upsetting and tiring to your nerves.

But not Double-Mellow Old Golds!... Old Golds maintain their own weather inside an exclusive, climate-proof package. Doubly-wrapped in finest moisture-proof Cellophane... two jackets, not one, guard the freshness of Old Golds' prize crop tobaccos.

Thus, Old Golds' choice tobaccos from the Orient and our Southland come to you at the high-point of smoking perfection. Delightful in aroma. Delicious to the taste. Depleted of all irritants.

IT'S THE EXTRA JACKET! Every pack of Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS is wrapped in TWO jackets—double Cellophane. That EXTRA jacket keeps OLD GOLDS in prime condition in any climate. You can't buy a stale OLD GOLD.

"Fresh as a Maine Morning"... We're getting nice weather up here now. But, of course, we have damp and foggy spells in the woods when a mackinaw feels good. And that EXTRA jacket on Old Golds certainly comes in real handy, too. Keeps Old Golds as fresh as a sunny Maine morning, never soggy or stale.
